Depedro

Pias Recordings – Spain

If you enjoy warm latin music and singing, come and listen to Midem Talent 'Depedro'. You'll be swept away by Jairo Zavala's Spanish plaintive and generous voice, simple feel good guitar melodies and a quiet and gorgeous low key brass section. Zavala is partly accompanied in his singing by a great set of male voices, or a female solo, from bluesy mood to flamenco based inspiration. Guitars carry rythms with grace, horns, bass and percussions set a recurring tone, a few keyboards and electric guitars inputs bring the whole mood to a few psychedelic moments. Some orchestrations seem to bring Morricone/Leone's 'spaghetti' West back and some say Tarentino ought to be a fan of Depedro's atmospheric world. It certainly doesn't take away from the experience if you are not fluent in the Spanish language, as Jairo Zavala has a conviction to his vocals that reveals just the right of emotion.
